- 11:00 – 12:30 P.M. The Evolving Role of University Leaders – Leading and Negotiating Change

The higher education landscape is changing and with it the role of university leaders are evolving. During this panel discussion we'll discuss how Chief Academic Officers in particular are taking steps to lead the academic enterprise today and for tomorrow. During this session we will discuss the key factors that are and will be fundamental for success and the leadership development activities that you can be undertaking at your institution to facilitate succession planning and ongoing success.
- 12:30 – 2:00 P.M. Lunch
- 2:00 – 3:00 P.M. How Can You Evolve Your Academic Organizational Structure for Student Success and Financial Sustainability?

As tuition costs have increased, the cost of delivering a college education has been increasingly scrutinized. The administrative costs at universities have risen by 36% between 1998 and 2008, outpacing the 22% increase in instructional costs. Many institutions are exploring ways to address the costs of delivering a high quality academic experience, and one strategy to do so is through a reorganization and alignment of academic departments. During this session we'll discuss the approach that institutions are taking to reorganize their academic organizational structure and discuss other approaches to achieve transformation in delivering high quality educational experiences to students more efficiently.
